

Technology Transfer Consultant Job Posting

Fuentek, LLC is looking for a small number of technology transfer consultants to join our industry-leading team of technology and business professionals.

The Technology Transfer Consultant:

- Performs technical- and market-based evaluation of technologies
- Assesses technologies' viability and value in the marketplace
- Facilitates technologies' transfer via out-licensing, in-licensing, and/or partnerships

The Position Requires:

- A strong technical mind with the ability to quickly and efficiently learn new technologies within a given field of expertise, e.g., aerospace, electrical engineering, biomedical engineering, etc.
- Creativity and “thinking outside of the box” – willingness to insightfully look at technology to identify new applications
- Excellent technical writing skills and attention to detail – required due to the use of our online data management, reporting, and tracking system
- Self-motivation and accountability – dictated by our virtual work environment

Additional Competencies:

- Demonstrated technical knowledge of and experience with industry practices, interests, businesses, markets, and profiles
- Desire and ability to work as part of a highly collaborative team in a virtual office environment with the ability to follow through on numerous projects simultaneously under deadline pressure
- Demonstrated ability to communicate effectively, both orally – especially in conducting an effective interview – and in writing, with a broad range of people, including technical experts, business management, and non-technical professionals
- Willingness to seek input from other team members when faced with challenges – leveraging the other team members and their experience and contacts

Education and Experience:

- A bachelor's degree in a technical discipline is required; advanced technical degrees and/or MBA degree is preferred
- Professional consulting experience in a technical field
- Proven business development experience is required
- Familiarity with intellectual property (IP), especially in the context of technology transfer from conception to commercialization and/or from needs identification to technology infusion
- Professional experience working collaboratively with researchers in IP matters

Compensation:

Compensation is commensurate with qualifications, skills, and experience. We are engaging Technology Transfer Consultants as 1099 contract employees to work approximately 5 to 25 hours per week depending on your interest, availability, and specific client requirements.
